" Unfortunately, msg files do not appear to be a supported file type in either Pro X or Pro XI.. Is there a workaround or way to batch convert msg files? Or is there some kind of add-on or plug-in that will allow me to use the combine files into one PDF function with.. msg files to PDF?I have a folder full of hundreds of msg files, many with attachments.. On my PC, I am able to use the print to PDF function to individually turn each msg file into a PDF..

It takes time to have to enter a new file name for each attachment and save, and also requires me to name them very specifically, so I know which attachments go with which message file(s).. I need to convert them to PDF I have a Mac with Adobe Pro X, and a PC on which I just installed a trial version of Adobe Pro XI..

I have tried to do this on my own, on both machines, with little success I have tried the "drag and drop" method to try to "combine files into one PDF.. 2) Even if I could solve the attachment issue, I expect that it will take a LOT of time to convert each of these files, one by one.. However, there are two challenges I'm hoping to solve:1) The print to PDF function writes any attachments as separate PDFs, instead of automatically merging them all into one file.
